MISSING BOY AND "PROTECTOR"

Police of eight states were enlisted in search for Dean Tripp, 3, and George O'Connell, an ex-marine, who had been living with the Tripp family at Floral Park, L. I. O'Connell and the boy, pictured in a recent photo, vanished in midtown Manhattan.

Brown Identifies Letter Received
From German Spy

Young Ensign Stationed On Saratoga When He Got Letter

Confessed Spy Admits Sending Threat in January

By ROGER GREENE

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—A red-haired young United States Navy ensign, stationed aboard the aircraft carrier Enterprise, today identified in federal court a letter from a German spy threatening him with "dire consequences" if he divulged overtures made to him for American military secrets.

The witness, Ensign William B.
Brown, said he was stationed aboard
the United States aircraft carrier Saratoga last January when he received the letter. He ignored it at the time.

Appearing as a "two minute witness," Ensign Brown interrupted the cross-examination of Guenther Rumrich, 32, confessed Nazi spy, who previously testified that he sent a threatening letter to Ensign Brown urging him to "wise up" and telling him there were "certain ways" an enterprising Naval officer could make money.

As Rumrich resumed the stand,
George C. Dix, attorney for Fraulein Johanna ("Jenni") Hoffmann, 26, one of the three defendants on trial, subjected the witness to a searching examination on what promises, if any, he had received in return for testifying for the government.

"I received no promises," said Rumrich, who pleaded guilty at the start of the trial.

Explains Identity Card
Dix pressed the witness about the conditions surrounding the alleged "confession" of Fraulein Hoffmann to FBI agents.

"Did you explain your activities so she would know what you had confessed?" Dix asked.

"She didn't have to," Rumrich said. "She knew. She was right in with Schluter all the time."

He referred to Karl Schluter, scar-faced alleged "contact" man of the spy ring, who is a fugitive from justice.

Rumrich said that when he was arrested, last February, he carried a social security card and the torn half of a picture postcard of Notre Dame, Paris. The other half of the card, he said, would identify any fellow conspirator in the espionage ring.

Farley Favors Howard Bruce
As Federal Job "Dispenser"

Baltimore, Oct. 25 (AP)—Reports of a struggle for federal patronage in Maryland, echoing from the New Deal's unsuccessful efforts to "purge" Senator Millard E. Tydings, circulated in political circles today.

The Evening Sun described the developments as a "struggle" between Postmaster General James A. Farley, the administration's No. 1 job dispenser, and the ardent New Deal elements who directed the fruitless primary fight against Tydings.

Both sides were agreed, the Evening Sun said, that Tydings should be deprived of patronage, if this can be done. Disagreement developed over selection on the person to direct distribution of the jobs.
The newspaper said Farley "in-

Companion

Beverly Hills, Calif., Oct. 25 (AP)— Lyle Talbot played a real hero's role today which probably will blight his screen career.

Talbot's hands, neck, arms and head were burned so severely in a $50,000 fire that destroyed his home he may never appear again before a camera. He dragged his house guest, Franklin D. Parker, also an actor, from a fiery, smoke-filled bedroom to safety on a second story ledge.

Witnesses saw Talbot, trapped on the second floor by flames that started at ground level, trying desperately to drag Parker, who was unconscious, out on a porch from a bedroom. Talbot, choking with smoke, his pajamas aflame, finally got Parker to safety and then leaped 20 feet to the ground to assist firemen.

Parker suffered severe burns on his back. The condition of both men was critical, said physicians at Cedars of Lebanon hospital.

Some of the personal effects of Talbot and his wife, the former Marguerite Cramer, New York, were saved by firemen, and $1,000 in cash and jewelry valued at several thousands of dollars was found in a sock hidden in Mrs. Talbot's closet. Mrs. Talbot, who had spent the night with a friend, Mrs. Billy Snyder, hastened to the hospital as soon as she heard of the fire.

Talbot, a native of Pittsburgh, is 34. His last picture, finished 10 days ago, was "I Stand Accused." He has appeared in scores of pictures,
"Oil For The Lamps Of China,"
"One Night Of Love," and "Second Honeymoon" among them.

Parker played on the New York stage several years ago. He has had several bit roles and a few featured parts since coming to Hollywood.

"Join Hands" On Wage-Hour Law
Says Roosevelt

President Suggests Government and Employers
Co-operate

TERMS SUSPENSIONS
NOW UNFORTUNATE

Administrator Says More Money Needed to Make Law Work

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt suggested today that the government and employers join hands in making the new wage-hour law work.

He said at a press conference that experience had proved that social legislation affected some persons adversely at the start, but not permanently. For example, he said, the pecan shelling industry, virtually shut down since the law went into effect yesterday, would not go out of business permanently.

The President remarked, too, that it was unfortunate that the scattered suspensions at some plants affected by the new act should come just two weeks before the general elections.

He added that he and Elmer F.
Andrews, Wage-Hour Administrator, were in agreement on that point.

Andrews Reports Progress
Andrews made a progress report to Mr. Roosevelt earlier in the day and discussed with him the administration's need for additional funds.

Congress appropriated $400,000 to start the Wage-Hour administration but Andrews estimated that more money would be needed before congress could make another appropriation. He said the additional amount he would require would "depend on how much compliance we get and the size of the field force
we will need."

Andrews told a press conference
he believed that persons thrown out of work by industrial shutdowns would find new employment in plants operated by "decent" employers who conformed to the law.

The act requires industries in interstate commerce to pay a minimum wage of 25 cents an hour and limits the normal work week to 44 hours. Any overtime must be paid for at the rate of time and a half.

The administrator reported that most all businesses subject to the statute were co-operating "extremely well" and added that he had received virtually no complaints that employers were openly violating the law or were trying to circumvent it.

Pecan Representatives Kick
Andrews' first major problem arose yesterday when representatives of the pecan shelling industry reported that all their plants, employing between 30,000 and 50,000, were closed because they could not afford to pay the statutory minimum.

Representatives proposed that the industry be exempted from the law, contending it performed a first operation on an agricultural product in the area of production.

Andrews discussed with representatives of the tobacco stemming industry today the question of whether they were covered by statute.

Reports from North Carolina said the new standards brought higher pay to many tobacco stemmers in that state but at the same time brought unemployment to thousands of others.

H. I. Adams, North Carolina director of the textile workers' organizing committee, reported that almost every employer his organization had conferred with was "eager to co-operate."

In New York City, the Postal Telegraph Company said it was going ahead with plans to lay off 1,000 messengers "to protect its financial position." Commercial Tel-graph companies have petitioned the Wage-Hour administration for exemptions for their messengers.

Until their request is acted upon, they must pay the statutory minimum wage and conform to the maximum hours limitation.

Millions of Americans To

ROOSEVELT BROADCAST
SET FOR NOVEMBER 4

President Expected To Seek Support of New Deal Policies

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—Two weeks from today millions of American voters in 47 states will record their verdict again on Franklin D.
Roosevelt and the New Deal. Maine voted in September and again went Republican.

Two years ago in President Roosevelt's re-election sweep, Republican party prestige fell to the lowest ebb either major party ever has known.
That was spelled out in the presidential's eleven million popular vote plurality over his Republican rival, Landon of Kansas. It was underscored in his electoral majority of 515, with only the eight votes of Maine and Vermont remaining in the Republican column.

And it was even more strikingly shown in the results of the 1936 congressional and gubernatorial elections. They gave the Democrats a 4-to-1 majority in the Senate and a 3-to-1 domination of the House. Thirty-nine of the 48 states had Democratic governors; only seven had Republican chief executives.

That is the background against which election results two weeks from today must be read. Yet that 1936 Democratic sweep cannot be tested on the same scales again this year. Just how many of the voters participating in the November 8 election will be expressing their views on Franklin Roosevelt and the New Deal can only be estimated on the basis of the total votes cast for governor, senator or representatives-at-large.

South Appears Solid
With the test only two weeks off,
the "Solid South" appears as solidly Democratic as ever despite party warfare in the primaries. The Senate is mathematically certain to remain in Democratic control, probably by a substantial margin.

That leaves the outcome of elections for the new House and of the 30-odd races for governor as the factors by which the 1938 drift of national opinion will be gauged.
And the unknown quantity is now, as it was even the day before election in 1936, the personal popularity of President Roosevelt and his New Deal policies with the great mass of independent voters.

That analysis of the situation with less than two weeks of campaigning to go, further stresses the possible importance of President Roosevelt's nation-wide address to voters a week from Friday, to be delivered from Hyde Park.

While he is scheduled to speak primarily as a New York state voter and in connection with the state campaign on which hinges the governorship and two seats in the Senate, the nature of his national appeal for support of his New Deal objectives and methods is awaited by political observers with special interest.

Outcome Anxiously Awaited
There is expectation that Mr.
Roosevelt of necessity will deal with the farm problem and the steps he contemplates in the next Congress to meet it since the trend of the farm vote may be a decisive factor.
If it shows a decided swing away from the Democrats, New Deal portents for 1940 would be darkened.

Some observers believe a possible pre-view of budgetary policy also may be given in the Hyde Park speech. They see a prospect, too, that the president may deal with initial experience in putting the wage-hour bill into effect.

Whatever the president's approach, however, there is little doubt among Washington political observers that he is contemplating a supreme effort to sway election results.

Murder-Suicide End
20 Years Marital Life

Williamsburg, Pa., Oct. 25 (AP)—
John Hetrick, 50, killed his wife
Norma, 46, and himself late today, Coroner C. C. Rothrock said, in a tragedy which climaxed 20 years of marital life for the two.

Mrs. Hetrick died on the front lawn of her home in this Blair County community in the arms of James Latimer, a game commissioner, who had been attracted by shouts of the couple's daughter, Lottie, 24.

Mrs. Hetrick was shot three times in the back. Hetrick died of two wounds in the chest and head.
State Motor Policeman C. E. Smith said.

Smith said the shells in Het-rick's two guns were corroded and that three cartridges apparently had missed fire in the first gun before Mrs. Hetrick was shot. Then Hetrick shot himself with the second weapon.

CABINET TO DISCUSS
HITLER'S PROGRAM

Fuehrer Wants Old Colonies or Equivalent is Report

London, Oct. 25 (AP)—An aggrieved outline of sweeping German colonial claims was reliably reported tonight to have reached British ministers for discussion at tomorrow's cabinet meeting along with means of putting into operation the Anglo-Italian Easter accord.

Return of all Germany's pre-war
African colonies—totaling 1,031,839 square miles—or cession of other African territory of equal extent was said to be the burden of Reichsfuhrer Hitler's demands.

Consideration of the colonial problem by Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and his advisers seemed certain since defense minister Oscar Piwow of the Union of South Africa reached Lisbon to sound Portuguese opinion on the matter of Nazi demands before coming on to London.

Pirow said he planned also to visit
Berlin soon to talk about the colonial problem. The Union of South Africa is upset by Nazi Colonial agitation because former German Southwest Africa now is ruled by the Union under a League of Nations mandate.

The unofficial outline of Germany's demands was reported to have been delivered recently by Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm
Goering to the Marquess of Londonerry, British conservative leader. Prominent Nazis also were said to have stated them to Sir Neville Henderson, Britain's ambassador to Berlin, before he came home for a vacation last week.

Reliable quarters said Pirow's trip was significant since he would endeavor in Berlin to ascertain just how far colonial powers would have to go to satisfy Hitler.

Portugal, where Pirow is spending five days, is involved since the Portuguese colony of Angola adjoins Southwest Africa and has

Laconic Communique Says

Negotiations

Czechs Reported To Have Agreed to Half of Hungary's Proposals

Prague, Oct. 25 (AP)—Czechoslovakia was reported tonight to have turned down the latest Hungarian demands for territory but without closing the door on further negotiations.

A laconic communique issued after a session of the three governments
—The National Autonomous Slovak and Autonomous Ruthenian—said a "basis for further negotiations has been established."

Informed diplomatic circles, however, it was understood Czechoslovakia had declined on at least three definite points:

1. Rejection of the Hungarian suggestion for plebiscites in regions of mixed populations.

2. Rejection of Hungary's proposal to arbitrate the territorial controversy with Germany, Italy and Poland as mediators.

3. A firm decision to hold to the terms of the Munich accord, with any cession of territory dependent upon the approval of the four powers—Britain, France, Germany and Italy—which participated in that conference.

Czechoslovakia was reported in official quarters to have agreed to what amounts to a 50 per cent concession to Hungary's proposals of yesterday, and it was said these concessions were made "upon the advice of Berlin."

Hungarians Impatient

Budapest, Oct. 25 (AP)—The Hungarian public waited impatiently tonight for Czechoslovakia's reply to a note calling for action by tomorrow on Hungary's seventh proposal for settlement of the two powers' territorial-minority dispute.

The government was urged to start occupation of territories which Czechoslovakia already was willing to cede—about 3,800 square miles—and not to wait for fulfillment of other demands.

King George Names Duke of Kent
Governor-General of Australia

London, Oct. 25 (AP)—The Duke of Kent, Britain's Royal socialite, was appointed Governor-General of Australia today in what was believed a move by the British government to strengthen ties of the sprawling empire.

The Duke, 35 years old and youngest brother of King George VI, accompanied by his Duchess,
the former Princess Marina of Greece, will go to Australia in November next year to succeed Lord Gowrie. He probably will be accompanied by his two children, Prince Edward and Princess Alexandra.

The official announcement said the King has been graciously pleased to approve of the appointment of his Royal Highness, The Duke of Kent, as Governor-General of the Commonwealth of Australia in succession to Lord Gowrie.

The appointment was made Monday after King George had received Stanley Bruce, High Commissioner for Australia, and was announced when Britain feels her widespread Empire threatened from many directions.

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—Fire sweeping below decks of the German liner Deutschland imperiled the lives of 1,000 persons tonight in a north Atlantic storm off Newfoundland before it was controlled.

After a frightening two hours of fire-fighting, the captain radioed the Associated Press this laconic message:

"Fire under control!"

Other ships were racing through the dark gale-whipped waters 200 miles southeast of Cape Race to her assistance, answering calls frantically seeking help in the ship's dire need.

350 Americans Aboard
Aboard the big ship were 591 passengers and about 400 crew members. Included among the passengers were 350 Americans.

Five passenger liners swung swiftly from their courses to go to the burning ship's aid. United States coast guard cutters from as far distant as Boston, 700 miles away, and New London, Conn., put out to sea.

Heavy seas and rains buffeted both the beleaguered liner and the ships offering succor.

Off Newfoundland—the Deutschland reported her position as 200 miles southeast of Cape Race—a southeasterly was raging. High choppy waves were battering the ship as she fought for her life in the storm.

Caused by Explosion
Capt. Karl Steincke, the Deutschland's veteran master, sent out his first alarm at 6:22 p. m. (EST).

There had been an explosion in a compartment of number 2 hold.
Flames and smoke swept upward in a sudden blast. The ship's fire squads rushed into the battle.

Above, the passengers were in the cockpit lounges, at dinner, dancing.

The crew's first attack on the fire failed. The flames steadily spread. Captain Steincke ordered every available sailor into the fight.

It was not the first time the 15-year old ship had lived through a fire. Eight years ago a fire broke out at sea and was extinguished without a passenger being the wiser.

Calls for Assistance
This fight, though, was not so tame. The fire fighters were driven back for a time.

Captain Steincke radioed nearby ships: "Assistance necessary urgently."

Then the liners put about to the rescue. Those which reported they were going to the Deutschland were:

The American S. S. Manhattan,
247 miles west, speed 21-2 knots;
The French S. S. Minerva, 90 miles west, 11 knots;
The American Traveller, 110 miles

Roosevelt Defends Michigan Governor In Treason Charge

President Gives Dies Committee "Severe Dressing Down"

Asserts Committee Made No Effort To Get the Truth

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt came to the defense of Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan tonight against charges of "treason" leveled at the governor by witnesses before the house committee on un-American activities.

And in doing so, Mr. Roosevelt took occasion to give the committee a severe dressing down, which included an accusation that it had let itself be "used in a flagrantly unfair attempt to influence an election," and had "made no effort to get at the truth."

Called Acts Treasonable "Most fair-minded Americans," said the President, "hope that the committee will abandon the practice of merely providing a forum to those who for political purposes or otherwise, seek headlines which they could not otherwise obtain."

Mr. Roosevelt referred specifically to testimony of last Friday by Judge Paul V. Gadda of a Michigan circuit court and John Barringer, former city manager of Flint, Mich., that Murphy had prevented the execution of a writ for the election of automobile sit-down strikers and had failed to give the city needed assistance. Barringer called the governor's actions "treasonable."

On the contrary, the President said in a formal statement, Murphy by "pains-taking and statesmanlike efforts," brought about a settlement of the strike without bloodshed or the use of force, which "elicited the commendation of all the important motor manufacturers involved."

Miss Perkins "Derelict" The chief executive's statement was issued at the close of a day which saw the committee receive testimony accusing Secretary Perkins of the labor department of "dereliction of duty" for not pursuing a more vigorous course in the deportation of communist aliens, and a suggestion that impeachment proceedings were in order. The witnesses were Harper Knowles and Ray E. Nimmo, of the radical research committee of the American Legion in California.

They also told the committee that communists had organized agricultural and cannery workers of California for the purpose of tying up food supplies at a time of general strike or revolution, and that communists were working in the schools and among the professional groups in California.

The President was asked at his press conference whether he was concerned about the testimony given regarding Governor Murphy. His reply was:

Very Much Disturbed "I was very much disturbed. I was disturbed not because of the absurdly false charges made by a coterie of disgruntled republican office-holders against a profoundly religious, able and law-abiding governor; but because a congressional committee charged with the responsibility of investigating un-American activities should have permitted itself to be used in a flagrantly unfair and un-American attempt to influence an election."

At this hearing the dies committee (Rep. Dies, Texas Democrat, is chairman of the committee) made no effort to get at the truth, either by calling for facts to support mere personal opinion or by allowing facts and personal opinion on the other side.

Ex-Brain Trusters Debate Third Term

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—Two former members of the New Deal "Brain Trust" met today in public discussion of the question: "Shall we break with tradition in a third term president?"

They are Dr. Rexford Guy Tugwell, Chairman of the New York City Planning Commission, who said a third term was a good idea, and Dr. Raymond Moley, Professor of law at Columbia University, who said it wasn't.

The opponents, both close advisers to President Roosevelt in his first term, met on the platform at the New York Herald Tribune Forum on current problems.

Dr. Tugwell said he believed the "moral" opposition to a third term "comes almost wholly from those who think government, and especially its executive branch, ought to be kept weak."

Dr. Moley asserted that a "mere disclaimer" of a desire for more power was not sufficient, declaring: "The only disclaimer that deserves credence is renunciation."

Van Sweringens Personal Effects Under Hammer

300 Persons Gather in 54 Room Mansion as Sale Starts

Cleveland, Oct. 25 (AP)—Nearly 300 persons, dominated by smartly dressed matrons and misses, shattered the cloistered seclusion of the 54-room suburban mansion of the late Van Sweringens brothers today and carried home some of their rare china and tableware.

In the expansive and expensive "ship room," with costly oil paintings staring from the sides of the heavily-beamed miniature hall, Hiram H. Parks presided as auctioneer over the opening of a four-day sale which will dismember the railroad magnates' personal possessions to satisfy perhaps $100,000 of their creditors' claims of $68,000,000.

The day's sale netted $7,195. A 360 piece dinner set of royal caudon white and gold porcelain brought $440. And a collection of 13 royal Doulton figurines of Dickens characters went for $200.

It cost $250 to get in, but this was deductible from purchases.

Two women brought their knitting. Nobody smoked. An attendant was on duty in every important room to guard against theft and answer assorted questions about the multiplicity of objects garnered by O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringens, the secretive bachelor brothers who died insolvent in 1935 and 1936.

One visitor remarked to no one in particular:

American-owned Horse Among 28 Eligibles in Lottery Classic

New Market, Eng., Oct. 25 (AP)—An "$8,000,000" race will be run tomorrow when the classic Cesarewitch is renewed over two and a quarter miles with one "American-owned" horse among the 28 eligibles.

The race, actually worth only about $15,000, will determine the distribution of approximately $7,000,000 in the Irish Hospital sweepstakes. In addition another million or so dollars probably will be wagered.

The field was reduced by six today with the scratching of Artist's Prince, Archduke 2nd, Golden Shore, Tromonto, Toreador 3D and Celebrate 2nd.

The last callover of betting odds tonight established Sir W. Burdette's Solomaise the 10 to 1 favorite, replacing J. P. Hornung's Dubonnet, which dropped to third place at 100 to 9.

Contrevent, French-bred three year old owned by Princeesse de Faucigny-Lucinge, remained second choice at 21 to 2. The French horse is given a good chance to duplicate France's victory in the Epsom Derby, won by Bois Roussel.

William Woodward's Olympus, the American-owned representative, was considered a 22 to 1 chance.

Other odds were Snake Lightning, 100-8; Pet, 13-1; Black Speck, 14-1; Snipe Wood, 18-1; Murbarak and Stainless Stephen, 20-1; Love's Legend, 22-1; Harewood, 25-1; Earthstopper, 28-1; Corofin, 33-1; Rainfield, Miss Windsor, Tapaguer Queen's Shilling, Malkowicz, Trevisini, Gyppo and Nettletown, 40-1; Grey mantle, 50-1; Sirlam, Repondant, Fairing and Holnechase, 66-1; and Harvest Home, 100-1.

Death Rate Too High Says Wolman

BY STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH Associated Press Service Writer Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 25—The health condition of the average American citizen is 100 years behind what it should be, Dr. Abel Wolman, Baltimore, Maryland, new president of the American Public Health Association, said today.

Despite the fact that the death rate for the first half of the year in the United States was lower than at any time in history, it was still far too high compared with what can be done by the widespread use of existing medical and health knowledge in a national health program, the President said.

At the same time, Dr. Thomas Parran, Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service, declared in another address at the Association's annual convention here that a health program to extend such knowledge will be presented at the next session of Congress, in January.

Sweeping German Claims Are Before British

Entirely unofficial quarters suggested an Anglo-German colonial deal might give Germany Angola as well as a part of adjacent Belgian Congo instead of any British or French mandated territories.

O'Connor Ridicules "Tear-Shedding Act" by Governor

Says Republican Opponent Need Not Defend Jackson

Trying To Divert Attention From Shortcomings as Governor

Centerville, Md., Oct. 25 (AP)—Attorney General Herbert R. O'Connor said tonight Gov. Harry W. Nice, the Republican gubernatorial candidate, was "putting on a ludicrous tear-shedding act" in an effort to split the Democratic party.

O'Connor, the Democratic nominee in the race for governorship, told a mass meeting here the governor's recent speech extolling Mayor Howard W. Jackson, O'Connor's primary foe, was an "effort to divert attention from the shortcomings of his (Nice's) administration."

"Crocodile Tears"

"Mayor Jackson needs no defense from Harry Nice," the attorney general asserted. "Had I failed in the primary election and had Mayor Jackson been nominated, I am sure that Governor Nice would be shedding the same crocodile tears for me that he is now shedding for Mayor Jackson."

The governor would have used, he continued, "the same flattery, the same sobs and the same insincerity" in an effort to win votes. "Mayor Jackson had already announced his support of my candidacy at the Democratic State Convention and he made it abundantly clear that Governor Nice did not deserve reelection x x x."

O'Connor read several quotes he credited to Mayor Jackson, criticizing the Nice administration.

"With Governor Nice in the driver's seat," the Democratic candidate added, "our state has been going backwards, not forwards."

Tydings Scores S. S. A.

Senator Millard E. Tydings, up for reelection and making the tour with the other statewide Democratic candidates, criticized the Social Security Act, in a speech following O'Connor's, asserting the act needed amending.

"This is an income tax on the lowest income group in the nation," Tydings said. "It does not take into consideration the ability of the working man to pay x x x Again, the money collected is not set aside for social security purposes."

"As the government collects the money from the workers of America it is spent as fast as it comes in to pay for the regular expenses of the national government x x x."

Rep. T. Alan Goldsborough, of Denton, only congressman unopposed in the Democratic primary, accompanied the O'Connor party on a tour of Queen Anne's county.

"Devil Killer" is Put in Padded Cell

Houghton, Mich., Oct. 25 (AP)—Wilfred Pichette, WPA worker held in the "devil killing" of his 20-year old housekeeper, Marian Doyle, and his wife were arraigned in justice court today on a murder warrant and demanded examination.

Pichette, placed in a padded cell after discovery of the girl's battered body in his Dollar Bay home Sunday morning, mumbled throughout the arraignment. At one time he took off his shoes and started to remove his socks, but was restrained by deputies.

Justice John Mc Carthy set examination of the couple for next Monday.

Funeral services for the girl will be held tomorrow in the Hancock Apostolic church. Friends said the girl was religious, and had joined the Salvation Army last June.

Despite Pichette's conduct at the arraignment, Prosecutor Frank C. Coudon repeated he was convinced Pichette was "pretending," and that there is more than religious fanaticism back of this murder.

Pichette told officers he had purchased "the power of God" from a gypsy band for $2,000, and that this power conflicted with "the devil" that was in the girl, and that the household would have been "bewitched" if the girl were not killed.

Young Mother Dies Of Bullet-Wounds

Richards, Va., Oct. 25 (AP)—Mrs. Hester Shelton, 26-year-old victim of a domestic tragedy Sheriff Fulton Ratliff called murder and suicide, died today in a hospital.

The young mother was shot while she sat on the porch Monday holding her 3-year-old son. Constable W. J. Munley said Shelton, who killed herself after wounding his wife, was brought to a house at Red Ash Monday by a cousin who found him in a "drunk and crazed" condition on a highway.

Pennsylvania WPA Workers Solicited For Campaign Fund

Investigator Reports Findings in Luzerne County to Committee

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—The Senate Campaign Expenditures Committee heard today from its investigators that some WPA workers in Pennsylvania had been solicited for $100 contributions to the Democratic campaign fund.

The investigation was made as a result of charges by Senator Davis (R-Pa.), who is running for reelection and is opposed by Governor George H. Earle, Democrat.

The investigators found, the committee said, that "large numbers" of WPA workers in Luzerne county (Wilkes-Barre) were summoned to county Democratic headquarters by postal cards and interviewed by a Democratic leader working for the party while on leave from his job in the State Unemployment Compensation Service.

The committee said it was given evidence that many WPA foremen made a practice of selling tickets to Democratic party rallies.

This included, it said, evidence that Charles H. Spangler, Chief Pay Roll Examiner for the Fifth WPA District in Pennsylvania, had distributed 4,500 such tickets to WPA workers and officials.

Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex.) said the committee was given affidavits that owners of trucks employed on WPA projects in Carbon county were solicited for $100 and that at least four promised contributions.

Kopp Locks Door, Refuses To See Student Strikers

Asked if he were going to hear the students' plea, Mr. Kopp pointed to the locked door. "You see what we're doing," he said.

"We have heard their principal, but we don't deal with children. There's nothing further to say."

Police Disband Group

At that point the police came puffing up.

"You'll have to leave here, get out of town right away," Traffic Sergeant Raymond Johnston told the committee of five on the front steps.

The committee accepted his orders with an air of resignation, and they and the police officer gently herded the mass of students back toward town, and their trucks.

Threaten to Return

The committee was indignant at the rebuff, but determined. "We'll come back tomorrow by ourselves. Maybe he'll see us then. We're sending a telegram to Gov. Nice, too, asking him to investigate the situation in Allegheny county."

"The other schools in the county have good coaches. Why shouldn't we?" they demanded.

"Are Allegheny High and Port Hill afraid we'll come down and beat them?"

"After all, we don't have any football team, and soccer and field ball have been taken away from us. We do deserve a good basketball coach."

The strikers all pointed out that personally they liked John H. Armstrong, faculty member who has been their basketball coach.

Louacoming students and sports fans have been dissatisfied with the lack of success of the boys' basketball team for some years.

Smith Speaks for Henry

Arthur F. Smith, Central High principal, said last night that he had no plans whatsoever to end the strike.

"I called Mr. Kopp yesterday morning and told him what had happened. That's all I could do. 'I can't for the life of me see why Henry should not be employed as a coach here, but the board has made its ruling and I have to accept it.'"

"I think this strike is absurd and ridiculous. 'I think the best way to settle the argument would be to have Henry made a member of the faculty. He has a Virginia teacher's certificate and is qualified for a Maryland certificate.'"

"We had no intentions of paying him a high salary. In fact, he offered to coach for nothing, but we couldn't allow that. He was being paid out of our school's budget."

"He had been coaching here for several weeks before the board made its ruling. This ruling came ex post facto, after the coach had been hired. That was the chief trouble. Even the Congress of the United States can't pass ex post facto laws."

Mr. Smith said a delegation of parents who had planned to call on the County Commissioners yesterday apparently "had backed down." "The people up here are certainly resenting the board's action," he added.

Mother and Son Are Implicated Auto Theft Ring

Mrs. Mary E. Vincent, 47 and Son, 19, Arrested in Baltimore

Baltimore, Oct. 25 (AP)—A West Virginia mother and her 19-year-old son were held in the Baltimore city jail today, awaiting hearing Oct. 31 on federal charges apparently resulting, authorities said, from activities of an organized automobile theft ring.

Officer J. J. Cassidy, in charge of the state police identification bureau, said Mrs. Mary E. Vincent, 47, and her son, Ernest, 19, of Fairmont, W. Va., were turned over to federal agents after attempting to secure a Maryland title for a car stolen in West Virginia.

Cassidy said young Vincent attempted to escape after Michael Noppinger, title registrar of the Motor Vehicle Commissioner's office, questioned the couple, and Noppinger called officers from headquarters to help subdue him.

West Virginia authorities reported Vincent "jumped bail" after he was indicted on a burglary charge. They asked that he and his mother be held pending an investigation of the reported stolen car ring.

Cassidy said the federal charge against the couple was brought under the national motor vehicles theft act, covering the transportation of a stolen automobile across a state boundary.

The Vincents are residents of Fairmont, W. Va., Cassidy said. The automobile they were driving was reported stolen Oct. 6 from Rachel Blaine, of Mannington, W. Va., he added.

State Police Corp. Louis Emrick, of West Virginia, and Police Chief Jesse Kendall, of Mannington, conferred here with agents of the federal bureau of investigation and Maryland state police last night on the case.

German Liner is Afire In Storm Swept Atlantic

(Continued from Page One) keeping in direct contact with all rescue ships and the mainland. At 9:15 p. m. (EST) the Canadian press reported, the radio branch of the Department of Marine at Halifax was informed that the ship was permitting resumption of its regular wireless operations.

Because of the storm, it was considered unlikely that any of the rescue ships could reach the Deutschland before daybreak.

The New York office of the United States weather bureau said the area in which the Deutschland reported herself was whipped by a heavy rain as well as strong winds but that a clearing could be expected about 4 a. m. (EST), just before dawn.

As soon as the Deutschland's first distress signal was received, ships along the Atlantic Coast voluntarily observed a "quiet period" to permit uninterrupted broadcasts from the burning vessel.

Her skipper carefully gave the position: "44.09 north; 47.27 west."

This was repeated to reduce the danger of misunderstanding. The National Broadcasting Company reported at 10:12 p. m. (EST) that the Deutschland's emergency calls had been "cleared from the air."

NBC said this indicated there was no longer an emergency on the vessel.

Broadcasting and reception on the Trans-Atlantic Air Channels—cut off during the emergency period to assure uninterrupted communication between the Deutschland and rescue ships—was resumed.

MacKay radio reported at 9:50 p. m.:

"At 0220 G. M. T. (9:20 p. m., EST) Deutschland sent an SOS clear for traffic."

"The Deutschland is keeping in communication steadily with steamships Collamer, American Traveler and Europe. These three are rushing to her assistance. They did not say anything about fire being under control yet."

Local officials of the Hamburg-American line said about 100 of the passengers were in cabin class.

According to local records of the ship, it was fitted to its passenger-carrying capacity. These showed it was designed to carry 76 in cabin class, 169 in tourist, and 345 in third.

Other officers besides Captain Steincke, include first officer A. Raschke, First Engineer A. Kolster, Purser R. Seitz, and Chief Steward F. Lau.

Wartime Chief of Army Nurses Dies

Brunswick, Ga., Oct. 25 (AP)—Mrs. Louise Owens Carter, wartime chief of United States Army Nurses, died here yesterday of a heart ailment.

A military funeral service was planned for Sunday at the national cemetery in Muscogee, Okla.

Mrs. Carter, 48, was taken to a hospital Sunday.

Mrs. Carter served overseas for two years after enlisting in the service from Waynesville, N. C., in 1917. She was discharged in 1919 and given a government pension.

Federal Budget Being Studied By President

National Defense Big Question Mark Next Year's Budget

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt, beginning an item-by-item analysis of the federal budget, was confronted tonight by this question:

In view of official forecasts that relief needs will decline and the virtual certainty that armaments expenses will increase, will the net result be a decrease or increase in federal spending?

The President's conclusions on this point will be given to Congress January 3 when he will make his revised estimates of government costs this fiscal year and outline what he believes the expenditures will be in the next year, beginning July 1, 1939.

The Chief Executive already has disclosed that national defense is the big question mark in next year's budget, because of an intensive re-study of defense needs in the light of changes in military technique and equipment.

Recommendation for an increase next year over the $1,050,000,000 to be spent on defense this fiscal year is a foregone conclusion, since the President has said an extra $150,000,000 will be needed to pay for new warships already authorized by Congress.

Federal expenditures this fiscal year are expected to reach the post-war record total of $9,000,000,000, of which $2,000,000,000, is for WPA. Business is improving and the WPA indicates it will reduce its payroll of 3,100,000 persons.

Treasury experts foresee little prospect for substantial economies in other items.

Along with expenditures, the President is discussing with Secretary Morgenthau a new tax program. Better business may increase the yield of existing levies, but the Treasury is studying numerous proposals for revision, or increase, of taxes.

Hospitals Probe Ordered by Nite

Baltimore, Oct. 25 (AP)—State-aided hospitals gave free-patient care worth $903,847 during the fiscal year ended September 30, although state appropriations given them for such work amounted to only $421,000.

Care of free patients, made the subject of a gubernatorial investigation this week, reached a peak in the Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, Chairman Samuel E. Shanahan, of the Board of State Aid and Charities reported today, where the hospital actually earned $118,148 for such services.

The Hopkins' state appropriation was $30,000.

Governor Harry W. Nice announced he would name a commission to study the problem of free-patient care.

Baltimore City's 15 hospitals, including the University Hospital which is entirely state-financed, earned $540,505 on charity work, and received an appropriation of $245,500 from the state, the board's fiscal year report showed.

In the counties, the 17 state-aided institutions reported $363,342 worth of free-patient care, against their appropriation of $175,500.

Only one hospital—Miners, in Frostburg—failed to exceed its appropriation. Miners, with a $15,500 state allocation, turned back $4,697, a reporting charity work totaling $10,802.

MacKay radio reported at 9:50 p. m.:

"At 0220 G. M. T. (9:20 p. m., EST) Deutschland sent an SOS clear for traffic."

"The Deutschland is keeping in communication steadily with steamships Collamer, American Traveler and Europe. These three are rushing to her assistance. They did not say anything about fire being under control yet."

WPA Foreman Inherits $70,383 and is Fired From $150 Job

Pittsburgh, Oct. 25. (AP)—J. E. Kesner, county WPA chief, said today he had dismissed Frank R. Fleming, a $150-a-month WPA foreman, who inherited $70,383 from his grandmother last year.

Kesner charged Fleming, a foreman for three years, employed a maid, operated two cars and owned three houses, Kesner said. Fleming claimed he was not employed under a relief classification and blamed his discharge on "politics."

William Muncy Pleads Guilty

Mingo Countian Confesses to Second Degree Murder; Sentence Deferred

Williamson, W. Va., Oct. 25 (AP)—Thirty-year-old William Muncy joined his companion in jail tonight to await the judge's sentence for invading the home of Isaac Ferrell and then beating him so badly he died later.

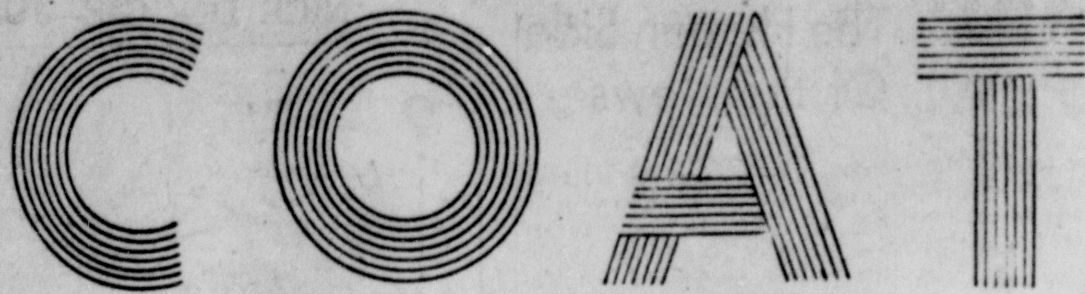

On the eve of his scheduled trial, Muncy appeared before Judge Charles W. Ferguson and pleaded guilty to second degree murder.

Sentence was deferred until the judge rules tomorrow on motions to set aside a second degree verdict returned last week against Tommie Kimble, 24.

Ferrell, 67-year-old mountaineer, died September 21 of what the coroner said was pneumonia, brought on by injuries and exposure.

At Kimble's trial, Ida Ferrell, middle-aged housekeeper, testified that the

Particularly Appealing

ONE of the things A. Charles Stewart is stressing in his campaign for election as Sixth district United States representative, is the need for employment, the promotion of helpful national policies that will bring that about. Says Stewart:

"In this land of great plenty, there should be work for all workers, instead of millions of unemployed; useful production, instead of enforced scarcity; a decent, comfortable living for all, instead of want, privation and suffering for many."

This is particularly appealing. It should be so to all those who have struggled through the dark days of the Roosevelt recession wondering how they would come through it all, who have been confused and uncertain of what might next be plopped out of the White House and fearful of the future.

Certainly a program looking to decent aid to business and industry so that they may be encouraged to resume production, thus giving jobs for the idle, and at the same time providing insurance the American standard of living as we have all come to understand it, is the program needed today. Stewart would work for such a program and not fritter away his time yessing presidential whims or indulging in wild Utopian, crackpot and bootstrap ideas that get the country nowhere.

Randolph's Speeches

A PIECE of campaign literature is being circulated in the Second West Virginia congressional district that is having a telling effect. It is a reprint from the Marlinton, W. Va., Journal, a sprightly weekly newspaper published in the southern end of the district, which includes in full the speeches being made and to be made by Jennings Randolph, the Democratic nominee for Congress, in the present campaign.

The Journal explained that Randolph, the New Deal candidate, is running for re-election on a platform "containing one plank only—that he is for the New Deal one hundred percent"; and that he had announced his intention of making ninety speeches during the campaign. The Journal took pleasure in publishing all these speeches. Thereupon followed a listing of the ninety speeches. The first ten of them are as follows:

"Yes, Mr. President."
"Yes, Mr. President."
"Yes, Mr. President."
"Yes, Mr. President."
"Yes, Mr. President."
"Yes, Mr. President."
"Yes, Mr. President."
"Yes, Mr. President."
"Yes, Mr. President."
"Yes, Mr. President."

The News, having the interest of its readers at heart, will not reprint the remaining eighty speeches, as all of them are identical with these first ten. Of course, Randolph is not making these speeches quite so short, and not in such identical repetition, but in sum and substance they are all the same. The pamphlet is a powerful, if amusing, illustration of what sort of representative the people of the Second West Virginia district have lately had in the national House of Representatives, and what they could expect to have by re-electing him. There are increasing signs, however, that the people of the district are pretty sick and tired of this yessing business and that they will send to Washington as Randolph's successor the brilliant young attorney of Preston county, Melvin C. Snyder, who has been making a wonderful campaign throughout the district.

More Than Subsidies

IT will take more than subsidies to solve the nation's farm problem in the opinion of Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas, who declares that the New Deal agricultural program has utterly failed.

The New Deal, Capper says, has "not restored equality for agriculture" as "conditions are worse off than they were five years ago when the Roosevelt administration came into power." This year, he notes, there has been a forty percent drop in prices received by the farmer for what he sells and only a three percent drop in prices he pays for things he buys. In the last year, he notes, wheat in Kansas dropped to fifty-five cents, corn to forty-two cents and hogs to eight cents, which shows that government spending has not brought the farmer out of the depression and will not.

While the administration may have had good enough intentions, Capper declares that it "has not given the farmer parity prices nor parity income. It has not given the farmer cost of production plus a fair profit. It has taken good land out of production and at the same time attempted to bring poorer land into production through wasteful reclamation projects. It has reduced American acreages to allow the American market to be served from foreign acres—and through the reciprocal trade agreements has encouraged imports of farm products from abroad at the expense of the American farmer."

Capper asserts that one of the principal reasons why the three billions appropriated for agriculture since 1931 has not materially helped the farmers is that "those administering the laws do not fully understand the farm problem." Another fundamental fallacy of the New Deal seen by Capper is that its farm program has entertained the conception that the problem is one entirely of production and not one of distribution as well. "It is a shameful paradox in a rich country like the United States," he avers, "that some of our farms are glutted with surpluses while elsewhere millions of men, women and children go hungry."

In view of his past sympathy for New Deal agricultural efforts, Senator Capper's criticism of the present program is regarded as evidence of the sharp turn public sentiment has recently taken on the subject.

Cutting Off Hong Kong

MUCH has been heard in recent weeks about the possible effects in the Far East of British "surrender" to Germany at Munich. Perhaps a little realism now is in order.

First, let us keep clearly in mind that the war lords at Tokyo—namely, the generals and admirals responsible directly to the Japanese emperor and not to the Japanese parliament—care nothing about self-determination of racial groups. They know that they, themselves, are descendants of mixed Mongolian and Malay invaders of the island kingdom.

Second, let it be remembered that Hong Kong is important only as a port of call and departure. It was at Hong Kong that an obscure American naval officer named Dewey coaled and took on supplies for his adventure in the Philippines.

Third, let us not forget that Hong Kong is a foreign port, built on Chinese soil ceded to the Westerner. There never was a Chinese city of Hong Kong. There never will be.

We are led, therefore, to the conclusion that Hong Kong is important only as a point of distribution. The Japanese are not silly. They are not going to get themselves into a war with the British empire over the issue of the port through which Chinese trade will flow.

The Japanese, in other words, will content themselves with cutting off the trade of Canton and the rest of South China through the British port of Hong Kong. And who is going to stop them?

Cakes, Sausage, Pumpkin Pie

THESE are days when thoughts turn naturally to important things of life, such as sausage and wheat cakes and pumpkin pie. Incidentally, of course, there is the election, which is vital in a remote sort of way, but the others are matters of more intimate interest. When the mercury descends to its lower levels, as it does occasionally on these bright autumn mornings, the appealing spectacle of a stack of golden brown cakes and a generous link of sausage arises pleasantly in the mind's eye.

There may be better ways of starting the day than by attacking and conquering such a gastronomic citadel but they do not present themselves for consideration at the moment. As for pumpkin pie, one whose texture is smooth and rich, with just the proportion and kinds of spices and and perfect crust—among all of the attractions of a delightful season which combines most of the beauties of nature, there is none more appealing than this.

In an upside-down age we should have foreseen this, from the New York Times: "College grad seeks position commensurate with ability. Employer must have good references."

The old-fashioned German band hit some blue notes once in a while, but the net result was much more pleasant than is being achieved by the German bund.

A ton of helium expands to 200,000 cubic feet. That almost equals the record of the sophomore halfback upon first seeing his name in the Sunday papers.

Elliot Roosevelt says that being the president's son is a handicap sometimes. Being the father of the president's son also occasionally has disadvantages.

A Berlin artist, winner of the Carnegie first prize for his canvas named "The Wind," is out of favor with Hitler, though nothing personal was intended.

Babe Ruth is out, after a season with the Brooklyn team. It is believed that the Babe could do better at some other game—baseball, perhaps.

More than 100,000 persons saw a recent plowing contest in Canada. That's our Saturday diversion, but we call it football.

"This is My Own—"

By MARSHALL MASLIN

This is my country—and I like it.
This is my own, my native land—and I'm proud of it.
This is my America—and I love it.

You say there's nothing unusual in that. . . . Millions of Americans are proud of America and love it. I know that. I've heard a lot of them confess as much and half the time I've wondered what they were trying to cover up with their loud shouts of loyalty. (That's what the outspoken old Dr. Samuel Johnson meant when he defined patriotism as "the last refuge of a scoundrel"—of fellows who wrap the flag around their burly forms and yell of glory.)

So I'm pretty careful how I go around announcing that I love anything. Someone may wonder what all the shouting is about. . . . and it may be someone who's heard me do my share of criticizing my country.

That's true, I have. . . . I don't like everything in this land. I don't like everybody that calls himself an American, either. Some of them are lazy good-for-nothings. Some are greedy, arrogant pirates. . . . I'd look pretty silly trying to maintain that everything's perfect in the United States of America and every American citizen is a noble soul.

But I'm proud of America—and the more I read about what's happening in other lands, the more I love it.

Yesterday I talked to an intelligent woman who had just returned from six months in Europe. It was her sixth visit to that continent and she said that, as always, she came home thanking her lucky stars that she is an American.

She said that the instant she stepped off the boat at New York she felt free. She could talk without looking furtively around to see if anyone was listening. She felt grateful, even, for the blessing of being able to THINK freely. . . . The chains dropped from her spirit, she rejoiced in LIBERTY.

She told me that unless one lived in the Europe of today one couldn't possibly understand what it was like to live where men and women had no freedom of action, or speech, or thought—and did not seem to care—where the great black wing of death was over all their days—and fearful anxiety was on every face.

I listened to her and I was glad. I was grateful. I was enriched. I wanted to put my arms around my native land and lay my head against its rugged shoulders. Crude, reckless, and not perfect—but strong, wise and on the RIGHT ROAD—this was MY native land. . . . May we stand strong and steady in whatever storms may rise against it!

The Human Side Of the News

By EDWIN C. HILL

They have brought the old West to New York—or as much of it as they could salvage from the retreating years. It was the West of the covered wagon and the iron horse; of the uncountable buffalo slowly giving way to the long-horn cattle of Texans; of great masses moving northward to greener fields, as many as 10,000 in one herd on the Chisholm Trail; of the building of a Western Empire.

These are the memories and traditions that the modern rodeo seeks to revive and does revive, keeping alive the thrilling story of how the white man, driven by facts which he did not always understand, moved ever westward until the waves of the Pacific itself lapped the shore before him.

The hi-lyppy-ye of a hard-riding cowboy echoes through Madison Square Garden, in New York, as the annual rodeo turns on its battery of thrills. Buckers and sunfishers do their stuff in magnificent style, and the air is filled with young men suddenly evicted from equine spines and convoluting in eccentric circles, landing with a crash in the sawdust and tanbark.

Like the circus, still the most appealing show for young and old, the rodeo maintains its romantic appeal. This is so because it takes us back to the days when the West was in the making; when stout hearts carried indomitable bodies out of the crowded East and over the Mississippi to give us our Western Empire.

Somehow even the modern rodeo brings back to this writer the unforgettable thrills that William F. Cody, "Buffalo Bill," used to jam into his great Wild West Show. Old Madison Square Garden is gone. But even in the new Garden, as the cowpunchers ride wildly around the arena with their bucking bronks and their six-gallon sombreros, piercing the air with their shrill cries, one regains the dramatic picture of Col. Cody riding into the arena on his great cream-color stallion.

I don't suppose that a more dramatic one-man tableau was ever presented or any stage than that of the old scout as he pulled his great horse up to his hind legs, lifted his white sombrero with an imperial gesture and bowed right and left as the spotlight played upon his long, white hair and his silvery moustache and goatee. That was a great act. Bill Cody's, back in the Gay Nineties and the early part of this century.

The Colonel's right-hand man had been his friend for years—Major John M. Burke. It was Major Burke, who invariably reminded us reporters that the annual assemblage of Indians and cowboys was not a Wild West Show but a great educational entertainment and he was right. No one conglomeration of performers ever presented such a dramatic and concise picture of the old West.

When Buffalo Bill rode down to duel with Yellow Hand, it was not a simulation of combat that we saw. It was the real thing. I wonder how many of our listeners remember Dr. Carver and the equally famous sharpshooter, Annie Oakley. Then, too, there was Jimmy Grant, Col. Hagaman, Texas Jack and a dozen other unforgettable figures of that unforgettable educational entertainment.

The show always began with a wagon train making its way across the plains. The bright lights of the old Garden paled to a simulation of approaching evening. Covered wagons and protecting horsemen circled and formed a barricade against the dread Indian attack. The pioneers descended from their big Conestoga wagons. Horses were unharnessed, haltered and led within the circle of wagons. The pioneer women prepared their pots and pans for the evening meals. An atmosphere of peace settled over the camp.

Suddenly the scouts, stationed on a rise of ground, signal danger. Buffalo Bill rides furiously toward the ridge and the scouts. The camp stirs to swift, disciplined preparation. The women folk are ordered into the covered wagons and told to lie flat, out of the way of bullets and arrows.

Now comes the Sioux onrush, led by Chief Ironclad. Savagely whooping, they ride round and round the wagon circle, shooting blunted arrows. The settlers reply from behind the big Conestogas. The dusk is full of the flare and smoke of rifle fire. It looks bad for the pioneers—but what do we hear off in the hills? The ringing notes of the bugles of the U. S. Cavalry, the Seventh. And while the spectators cheer wildly, the Indians fly in disorder leaving their dead in the scented sawdust.

It was a great show, indeed, with the U. S. Cavalry, the cowboys, the settlers, the Indians, and usually a flock of booted Cossaks, the real thing, standing upright on their galloping ponies. So much for the Wild West Show.

The present entertainment is the result of the showmanship enterprise of Col. Bill Johnson, of Texas, huh! Some years ago rodeos were confined to certain cities in the Far West—Cheyenne, for example. But Col. Bill realized that the effete East was missing a lot of fun, and so he began to bring his assemblage of wild riders over the Alleghenies and into New York.

Collecting wild horses for modern rodeos is a business in itself. At his ranch in Texas—Amarillo, I think—Col. Johnson assembles the meanest riding stock he can find. High prices are paid for horses that simply will not tolerate being straddled. He doesn't want any killers—the savage kind that deliberately set out to destroy prospective riders—but he does want the kind that can

Idea, Not Arms, is Worst Enemy of U. S. With Inside Activity As Chief Danger

By MARK SULLIVAN

Washington, Oct. 25—What is this enemy we are asked to arm against? It is not nations as nations. No one thinks there is any danger of Germany sending an army to the United States, seizing a part of our territory, and annexing it to Germany. Nobody thinks that as to Italy. Nobody thinks that as to Japan.

One almost wishes our danger were that simple, that concrete. Every American would be able to see it. Every American, seeing it, would resist it.

But it is not nations seeking our territory that threatens us. It is not nations as nations at all. It is not nations—it is an idea. It is not Germany as Germany—it is Germany as Nazism. It is not Italy, it is Italy as Fascism. It is not Japan, it is Japan as Nazi-Fascism.

Substantially the Same
I adopt the term "Nazi-Fascism" because Nazism and Fascism are substantially identical, and the thing that Japan practices is the same. We must use a single term for it. America must become familiar with this term if we are to be accurately informed and think clearly. To understand this term, and some others, is the first step toward intellectual and spiritual preparedness against the thing the term means. After we achieve intellectual and spiritual preparedness, military preparedness will take care of itself.

Nazi-Fascism is a form of society and government practiced by Germany, Italy and Japan. To extend this form of society and government throughout the world, the three nations are in military alliance. As to countries that are near to them, they will impose Nazi-Fascism by direct use of force or threat of it—as Germany has in Austria and Czechoslovakia, as Italy and Germany are attempting in Spain, as Japan is doing in China. But they will not attempt to impose Nazi-Fascism on the United States directly by arms, certainly not for some years and only after some intervening developments.

Might Try South America
They might attempt to impose Nazi-Fascism on South America by arms. If they do, we will be called on to use force to help South America resist them. For we have a policy of helping the Latin-American countries to resist imposition upon them of an alien form of government.

Only in the sense of helping South America resist armed invasion do we have present need of increased armament for defense against Nazi-Fascism. Excepting that, we have little present need for increased government. It is not as an armed force that Nazi-Fascism threatens us. To us, the threat is in the form of an idea. Against us, the threat is not merely external—it is also internal. Against the threat from within, our need for defense is immediate and great.

Asserts Unlimited Authority
Just what is this idea that threatens us? I have called it Nazi-Fascism. Another term for it is back five feet in the air and twist themselves like a rubber band in three or four directions at once.

It is astonishing that so few of these daring riders are badly hurt. Once in a while there is fatal accident or a man suffers a broken leg or arm, but they are in hard training, these boys, and as a rule get off with little worse than severe bruises or a bloody nose. Anyway, it's great fun, the modern rodeo, but it does make some of us look backward to older days when the great West was a bit closer to us than it is now.—Copyright, 1938.

"authoritarian government." Another is "totalitarian government." These, like Nazi-Fascism, are terms with which America must become familiar. Authoritarian government is that which asserts unlimited authority over the individual, permits to individuals and minorities no rights that the government need respect, denies the power of courts to protect the individual against government, forbids the functioning of any congress or parliament, denies the right of free speech, denies the right of religion or business or organized labor to function apart from government.

One more fact belongs in the elementary understanding of this problem. Authoritarian government is practiced not only by Nazi-Fascism but also by Communism. Nazi-Fascism and Communism have only one important difference. Communism forbids the right of the individual to own property; Nazi-Fascism permits it, with great limitations. Aside from that, the two are practically the same. Of the two ideas, Communism is the original. Nazi-Fascism is an imitation. The imitation is spreading faster than the original. Both are practically equally odious to America.

Threat is Internal Neither Nazi-Fascism nor Com-

Look First, Play Safe

A Bulletin from the Agricultural Department of Maryland State University

The Soil Conservation Service calls attention to the fact that a great many people are injured every hunting season by gunners who shoot first and look afterward. Sometimes, also, guns that are pointed in the wrong direction go off unexpectedly.

In previous years, it is stated, stringent safety regulations have kept CCC boys working in field and forest from being listed among those injured. With the hunting season at hand, CCC authorities and government agencies who use CCC labor to carry out soil conservation, forest and park improvement and other activities, ask that the slate be kept clean for still another year.

If you see a red warning sign posted by a crew of CCC boys working nearby, turn your steps in another direction. Don't forget, they may be planting trees and shrubs which encourage wild life. If you go the other way, there will not be any chance for an accident which you and everybody would regret.

Held For Big Ransom

According to a London report, Baron Louis de Rothschild (above), was held in the Hotel Metropole, Vienna, by Gestapo officers who demanded $3,000,000 ransom or possible imprisonment in Dachau, a dreaded Nazi concentration camp.

munism is going to be imposed on the United States by force of arms. The present threat to us is not external; it is internal. Both Nazi-Fascism and Communism are busy within our borders. They complete with each other to determine which shall be successful in seizing control. In one daily newspaper within the past week there were two despatches: one, from Syracuse, New York, described a Nazi meeting. The other, from a town in Missouri, described the breaking up of a public meeting addressed by a member of Congress who attacked Communistic tendencies.

For describing the activities of both groups, the convenient term is "authoritarian government." As organized groups and as individuals, the advocates of authoritarian government are busy everywhere. There are within our own government or close to important individuals in our government, persons who consciously or unconsciously, advocate or condone features of authoritarian government.

Herein lies our immediate menace. It is of little use to arm against authoritarian government coming from abroad if at the same time we step by step adopt authoritarian government at home.

Editor Cumberland News:

There seems to be a difference of opinion among some of the laboring people, in regards to the caliber of the two congressional candidates from the Sixth district of Maryland.

Certainly Mr. Stewart needs no press agent from Allegheny county to denote the good he has done. As chairman of the Allegheny county commissioners, he has put forth his best efforts to make Allegheny county a better place in which to live; he has always been willing to get new industries in the county and by so doing he has helped labor. With his assistance as chairman of the Allegheny county commissioners, the roads of the county have been greatly improved, flood walls have been built in some sections and many other improvements have been made throughout the county.

As an employer of labor, he has been more than fair, as any of his employees will testify that for years he has been paying ten cents a ton more for mining coal than any other operator in this region.

If Mr. Stewart wasn't honest, efficient and fair to labor, surely the voters of Allegheny county wouldn't have elected him to one of the most important offices in the county time after time with an ever increasing vote.

The Hon. David J. Lewis made an address over radio station WTBO in behalf of Mr. Byron, but Mr. Lewis failed to mention the labor record of Mr. Byron, whether by willful omission or because Mr. Byron's labor record is unfavorable. I don't know, but the voters of this district are anxious to know the labor record of Mr. Byron and until they do, they will be under the impression that it is very unfair.

Fair Enough

By WESTBROOK PEGUE

The simplest cure for the fear of those who think a great program for this country to develop an aristocratic and officer caste is to eliminate the "gentlemen" from the 95th of War. This article was lifted from the British aristocracy long before that, when the "gentlemen" had a little more which has been lost by now.

There are no more democratic institutions in this country than the military and naval institutions in themselves. But despite the ternal democracy, under which son of a four-star general has no advantages over the son man with lime in his hod boots, the mouse does come instill in the young gentlemen they are called, a strong sense of the social untouchability of the in the ranks and the social touchability of the enlisted wife in relation to the officer.

The theory holds that an officer is a gentleman and that an enlisted man is of a lower social order, may not often examine the man and effect of all this, but it is parent throughout the life of services. In service emergency, officers and men become human beings with no human distinction the lawful authority of the commands obedience not be he wears finer feathers but he is authorized to command.

Officer Has Pick of the Peas
But, in other times, the officer has his pick of the peas, enlisted men, even though as and intellectually and perhaps stable, are excluded from the cers' set and from places which frequent. As a result they are reduced to association with riffraff of the post town. Commanders cultivate the society of commissioned personnel to the exclusion of the enlisted men their wives, if any, and jokes cropped up in England and by the great war about the problem reconciling contrasts illustrates comic idea of a millionaire's to salute a man who recently been his own valet and of mutual embarrassment was only because the tradition being silly.

The tradition endowed the officer with an indefinable social superiority which he and the public did not necessarily possess. The public, however, intuitively felt that somehow an ought to be superior.

The French were much more democratic. Their officers had authority, but a general entered room will click his heels and salute all present in a gesture of politeness, nothing more, and a private is not expected even by American and British officers—in the higher ranks at least—that they lose something of and authority (perhaps of ungentlemanly) to frequent haunts of enlisted men. It is so in the event that the distinction emanating from word "gentleman" has driven enlisted men—or "the people" they used to be called in the—to questionable places.

Supervision of Political Regulars

But worse than the presence of the word "gentleman" in the 95th Article would be the institution of social or political commissars to supervise the political regulars, the commissioned and enlisted officers. That remedy was used in Russia and later in Spain, and obvious that it must create a of snitches who undermine the gal authority of the men with responsibility and appeal to the shyster nature of every soldier house lawyer in the command; thereby would be destroyed and discipline with it. Anyone with experience under the Wagner Act the scuttie-but agitators who thrived under its protection foresee that.

In the old British army—guards particularly—the wife of the enlisted men traditionally the enlisted men for the families of officers. Education and the of democracy have advanced British enlisted men some distance from his social degradation, but still is legally the social inferior the officer. In the American army forces social distinctions which, if they do not have force, at least have equivalent derived from tradition and has in an army of intelligent menial distinctions are vicious and detrimental to the service. The distinctions go far beyond the preservation of respect for legal authority. From custom they pass in degrading the enlisted man to a status which to them is uncomfortable and often humiliating to the very men whom it is intended to give an impression of dignity.

Alligators and crocodiles are different. The alligator has a blunter snout and a broader, heavier head than the crocodile. Alligator has not so many webbed toes as a crocodile, the fringe on the hind legs of the crocodile are absent on the alligator. There is also a slight difference in the teeth of the two creatures.

How to pass friends and recognize people

In every 1939 Buick you get the skilled engineering and sturdy quality traditional to Buick—enriched by all the extra value which General Motors science and Buick workmanship can provide.

THERE you sit in a seat like an easy chair, comfortable as a puppy on his pillow.

The wheel in your hand has a fine and friendly feel—the treadle under your foot is a pressing invitation to travel.

You look out through windows deeper all around—through as much as 413 added square inches of safety glass.

You spot your path through windshields that are higher, over hoods that are lower—you've got a front-porch view of the whole wide world—that sitting-in-a-bathtub feeling's gone!

That's just one of the things we were after when we planned this new Buick. Better aerodynamics was another. So was the highly effective "catwalk-cooling" practiced on Europe's high-speed racing cars.

Market Ruined, Snyder Asserts

Assails New Deal for Closing of Glass Plants

Baltimore, Oct. 25.—"Of all the vital problems which the States must solve today," said Melvin C. Snyder, Republican candidate for Congress, in an address at the Monongahela county at the Community building last night, "unemployment is the most serious and gravest."

Snyder, in a five years of spending by the New Deal in sums that out of all proportion to the needs of the people still out of work, our business taxed and our industry facing competition from government-owned, government-financed and government-operated industrial plants.

Market Flooded

While the New Deal has hamstrung and hindered business recovery by artfully prolonging the "Roosevelt deal," Snyder charged, "our market has been flooded with cheap products of foreign factories and farms; and we have been suffering from a 'good neighbor' policy that has been good for us but Americans."

Snyder also assailed national policies on local markets, the Republican nominee said. "At least five per cent of the workers of this nation are out of work. Plants are closed down here at our very doors. The washers and free traders have the American market free of the glass workers of Slovakia, Japan, Belgium, and France; and have forced our people on to the relief of the State Hull."

Big Wage Loss

Year alone," he stated, "are imported into this country valued at $20,342,000.00—three times as great as it was in the New Deal came to clear imports represent a powerful $2,000,000,000 in wages; a loss of 12,000 American workers of their right here in this country."

Snyder also assailed the King-Stoney continued, "voted to Congress of the right to protect the American workman in his industry. He voted to strip-making in the hands of foreign subject to the will of the State Hull."

Senator Holt Raps Old Age Pension Plan

Tells Keyser Club Cream Goes to Politicians, Milk to Needy

Keyser, W. Va., Oct. 25 (AP) — Senator Rush D. Holt, addressing the Townsend Club of Keyser tonight, asserted that the average person receiving an old age pension in West Virginia gets the inadequate sum of $13.98 a month.

"If you approve of giving the cream to politicians and the skim milk to those who need relief, you can continue to send to Washington those who have supported and will support such practices," Holt told the group of old age pension advocates.

"Our problem is not just one of priming the pump, it is one of repair," he said. "The average recipient of old age assistance in West Virginia receiving $13.98 a month. That is not enough to provide the bare necessities of life."

"The junior Senator made it clear he does not 'advocate passing any particular plan of old age pensions. Drive out the corruptionists. We have them in this state administering the relief program."

Hodgson To Speak

The Senior High School Parent-Teacher Association will hold its regular meeting tomorrow night at 7:30 in the Music Room of the Junior high school building.

Attorney Joseph Hodgson will be the guest speaker. He has selected for his subject "The Present System of Financing Education in West Virginia."

Jobs Must Come, Stewart Declares

Relief and WPA Not a Cure Nominee for Congress Says

Frederick, Oct. 25 — In defense of the American workingman, A. Charles Stewart, Republican congressional nominee, declared here today in an address to the voters of this city, that "We should give relief to needy, but we must not look upon relief and WPA as a cure for unemployment. Relief is an emergency measure; we must not allow it to become a permanent function of government."

To Revive Production

"Our job," he continued, "is to revive in this land of vast resources industrial and agricultural production, suffocation and strangled by New Deal policies which pay farmers to restrict production on the one hand, and lower tariff walls on the other so that the home market is flooded with clean foreign products in double the quantity our own production would have made available."

"We take 40,000,000 acres out of production, and allow foreign farmers to glut our market with the products of 75,000,000 acres," charged Stewart. "And we do the same thing with industry. Our shoe factories stand idle while we import millions of pairs of shoes from abroad. Our textile plants can hardly keep their heads above the economic waters; yet imports of cheap foreign textiles keep our workmen walking the streets or doing part-time on WPA, paid starvation wages, while the big money goes to the white collar administrators."

Wants A Real Job

"The American workman," the Republican candidate declared, "doesn't want handouts. He is not a political panhandler. What he wants is a real job at good wages, in which he can earn promotion and bigger pay by his own efforts—not at the whim of some politician. We must replace present chaotic conditions with sanity. Healthy business providing good jobs at good wages must replace our present plight of unemployment, part time work, want and starvation in the midst of plenty."

"There's just one way to bring about this change," he concluded. "Support on November 8 the Republican ticket from top to bottom."

Civic Club Will Mark Birthday At Westernport

Reception and Luncheon Meeting Are Arranged for the Occasion

Westernport, Oct. 25 — Plans have been completed for the observance of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Westernport-Luke Civic club.

The celebration will open with a reception Thursday evening honoring the past presidents, Mrs. J. M. Davis, Mrs. John Miller, Mrs. William Rosenbloom, Mrs. Lewis Engle, Sr., Mrs. Charles Friend, Mrs. Burton Housley and Mrs. Paul McCoy, and Mrs. P. A. Laughlin, who served as treasurer of the club for twenty-five years. The reception will be held from 8 to 10 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Charles E. Dellinger, on River road.

The luncheon-meeting will take place Saturday afternoon, at 1:15 o'clock, in the Bruce High school auditorium. The luncheon will be in charge of Miss Bella Tonry.

About War Orphans

An exhibit of interest, which is being arranged by Mrs. Burton Housley and Mrs. Lewis F. Engle, Jr., will be pictures of and a letter from the mother of two little French war orphans, adopted by the club February 18, 1919, and supported by the club for two years. The children were Marie and Terese Le Beguec, of Seine-St-Oise, France. To this has been added a letter from Madame Le Beguec and her daughters and a picture of recent date, which came as a reply to a letter sent by the club several months ago.

An exhibit, arranged by Miss Margaret Baker and Mrs. Lillie Boucher, which appeared at the state convention on May 19, 1925, in Baltimore and later at the biennial council at West Baden, Ind., will also be displayed.

There also will be displayed the original manuscript of the constitution and by-laws of the civic club; pins and certificates won by members for war work; and the secretary's books from 1913-1938.

Three-Ac. Play

On the program will be a three-act play built about the various phases of the club work through its twenty-five years existence. The play written by Miss Frances Calvert and will be staged by Mrs. P. E. Berry, drama chairman, and Miss Helen Hayden.

Other numbers will be taken from an introduction program presented as a welcome to the newly organized civic club on Wednesday, October 22, 1913, at the Westernport public school. The program was arranged by the late O. H. Bruce and featured a chorus.

"Over Moonlit Seas" will be sung by the choral group and directed by Mrs. Raymond L. Moore; and a vocal duet, "Roses", by Mrs. Robert Derham and Mrs. D. P. Whitworth.

These affairs are open to charter members, present and former members of the civic club, the choral group, the Literary Guild group, the library personnel and prospective members.

Masquerade Party

The girls' and boys, Hi-Y clubs of Bruce High school will hold a Halloween masquerade party Saturday evening from 8 to 11 o'clock, in the school auditorium.

Dancing will be the feature while cards, apple-bobbing and other games will be added attractions. Refreshments will be served. The public is invited.

Rubber Stamping is Denounced by Eyster

Romney, Oct. 25 — In a series of discussions with the voters of Hampshire county, J. A. Eyster, of Charles Town, Republican candidate for the state Senate from the Sixteenth district, urged them now to put a curb on any attempt by the current administration to bring to Charleston next January a "rubber stamp" legislature.

"The voters of this district," he asserted, "know how the pressure was put on in the recent primary election. You know how those who work on the state roads and for other state agencies were put on the spot and made to vote for candidates whom they would never, in the free exercise of their own will, have supported."

"We propose to arrange matters so that relief and all other types of assistance will be given on a fair and equitable basis."

Local Hi Elevens Face Big Weekend At Home--Abroad

Allegany Tackles Boswell Friday Night at Local Bowl

WINCHESTER PICKED OVER FORT HILL TEAM

LaSalle Meets Old Foes, Romney Silents, Friday

The week-end will find the three local scholastic elevens meeting three out-of-state schools. Allegany takes on the tough Boswell (Pa.) High eleven at Fort Hill Stadium on Friday night with festivities scheduled to start at 8:00 P. M. while LaSalle's badly battered grid warriors journey to Romney to tangle with the Deaf School team.

Saturday afternoon at 2:30 the Fort Hill Sentinels open their C. V. A. L. season when they meet the hard-fighting Handley High Judges from Winchester in the Stadium.

Sentinels' Chances Slim

Of the three teams Fort Hill is the only one picked to come out on the short end of the score. LaSalle is favored to win over the Silents as they did last year, although they are expected to have their hands full in performing the task. In 37, the Blue and Gold was forced to come from behind to win 7-2.

Allegany's job is not expected to be so hard although the Boswell boys usually give a good account of themselves even in losing.

To top Handley, Fort Hill will have to show more improvement than they seem capable of. Comparing records, the Sentinels will need all the breaks and then some.

Three Conference Games

Three Potomac Valley Conference games, topped by the battle at Parsons Friday between the Panthers and Keyser Tornado, are also on the week's slate. Saturday, Piedmont will play at Thomas and Moorefield at Franklin.

Last season, Keyser defeated Parsons 13-6 and by winning that game clinched the conference championship. Piedmont noted out Thomas 7-0 and Moorefield blanked Franklin 19-0.

In other games Friday, the Davis Wildcats will meet their arch-rival, Elkins, in a night battle on the latter's gridiron. Romney will play at Ridgeley and Berkeley Springs at Charles Town. Davis hopes to revenge a 14-12 setback received at the hands of Elkins in 1937 while Ridgeley should repeat its 13-0 victory over Romney.

Another C.V.A.L. battle is on tap Saturday. Martinsburg's Bulldogs opening their loop season by tackling Hagerstown in the West Virginia town. The Bulldogs will be favored. Robertsdale will play at Hyndman in another Saturday tussle. The Potomac State Catamounts and Petersburg High Vikings have open dates.

Bruce Soccer Team Downs Allegany 4-0

Bruce High's soccer team defeated Allegany 4-0 yesterday to conclude the round robin soccer series involving these two schools and Beall High of Frostburg. The game was played on the North End Playground.

Both teams were off form in this game, missing many shots, with Bruce taking advantage of the breaks to win. Fazenbaker's kick in the second quarter bounded off Fullback Sowers' leg to account for Bruce's first score making the count 2-0 at half-time. The other score came about fifteen seconds before the game ended when Roberts sent one through the goalposts from scrimmage. Outside of the two Bruce scores the ball remained in mid-field practically all the game.

Beall High, the winner of the county championship is marking time until the state elimination tourney starts early in November.

Kopp Locks Door, Refuses To See Student Strikers

Board President Threatens School May Be Closed Unless Strike Ends

POLICE TELL MARCHERS TO GO BACK TO CONEY

Rebuffed Demonstrators Say "We'll Stay Out" Unless Henry Hired

Locked doors turned back two hundred and fifty striking Lonaconing high school students yesterday afternoon when they sought an audience with Superintendent of Schools Charles L. Kopp after an orderly march through the Cumberland business section.

City police finally caught up with the placard-waving demonstrators in front of the Board of Education building and ordered them out of town.

The marchers, under strict orders from their leaders not to create any disorder, obeyed the police order immediately and went back to their trucks and cars without disturbance.

Gunter Makes Statement

Meanwhile, William A. Gunter, president of the Board of Education, threatened that the board may close the school until the strikers decide to come back, and declared that the school would be run on into the summer, until August if necessary, to make up any time lost.

Mr. Gunter's statement follows: "The board is seriously considering the proposition that if the children do not return to school by Wednesday afternoon, the school will be closed and the faculty withdrawn until such time as they do make up their minds to return."

"State law requires that Allegany county schools be in session 181 days each school year in order to be eligible for the school appropriation. Any days lost at this time will be added to the school year in June. If necessary, Central high school in Lonaconing will remain in session until August 1."

The students were bitter in their denunciations of Mr. Kopp for his failure to meet their committee.

"Kopp thinks he's a little dictator," he knows that he's wrong, and "we'll stay out of school 'til we get a coach," were typical comments which rose from the ranks and their leaders.

The strikers rolled into town from Lonaconing, twenty miles away, in three big trucks and a fleet of cars. They came cheering, went away silent.

Want Henry as Coach

They came to make their protest against a Board of Education ruling that no person not a member of the faculty can be engaged as athletic coach.

This ruling was passed after Central High in Lonaconing had engaged Melvin "Newt" Henry, former V. P. I. athlete now driving a truck for a Cumberland soft drink firm, as basketball coach.

The board reaffirmed this ruling Monday night despite protests of Lonaconing students and townspeople, and this action led to the strike yesterday morning.

Strike Fever Spreads

The strike fever spread rapidly after the board's decision was announced.

No one showed up for classes yesterday morning except the teachers and twenty-six of the 293 students enrolled.

Later the strikers gathered near the silk mill in Lonaconing and planned their Cumberland trip.

They arrived here well supplied with placards such as "Henry for Us, Or We'll Stay Out Till We Bust," "We Want Henry," and "This is the End."

March on Board Offices

They parked their trucks and cars near the State Army on South Centre street, and while the police were still trying to find out where they had gone, they started their march up the hill to the Court House.

"Stay in line and keep quiet," their leaders exhorted them.

They passed swiftly through downtown traffic. Up the hill and past the parade ground where George Washington once drilled troops of the British king they marched and massed on the sidewalk before the old Clark home, now offices of the Board of Education and Superintendent Kopp.

The students pressed against the ornamental iron fence while a committee of five, all seniors and lettermen, strode up the long walk to the front door.

"We're not the leaders, we're speaking for all the rest," they said. "We just want to tell Mr. Kopp the situation as we see it."

Denied Audience

But the old fashioned doors with the thick glass panels were locked, although it was only 3 p. m.

The boys knocked, but secretaries who could be seen at work in the offices inside, refused to look up.

The committee was bewildered, the strikers out on the sidewalk wondered what was the matter.

Two courthouse reporters ran to the back door and slipped in unobserved. A secretary told them Mr. Kopp was busy and could not be disturbed.

One reporter grabbed a phone and called for a photographer. (Continued on Page Two)

Central High school strikers, above, arrive by truck to stage protest demonstration before school superintendent's office here. The demonstration was broken up by police, and the students' committee, below, was escorted away from the superintendent's locked door.

Do Three Beers Make Driver Drunk Is Issue Laid Before Judge Huster

Whether a man is "under the influence of intoxicants" after drinking three bottles of beer in a two-hour period was the issue in a case heard in Circuit court yesterday.

Associate Judge William A. Huster took the matter under advisement after hearing evidence in the case of Richard E. Hart, a clerk employed at the Celanese plant.

Hart's appeal from a lower court conviction on a charge of drunken driving was one of six appeal cases tried yesterday, four convictions being upheld, and one reversed.

Drank Three Beers

In a statement unchallenged by State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris, Hart admitted to having drunk three bottles of beer between 7 p. m. and 9 p. m., May 23. He denied, however, that he was "under the influence of intoxicants," as charged by State Trooper Carl Storm and City Patrolman W. B. Lovenstein.

Hart was arrested by Storm at about 9:30 p. m., May 23, on the Henderson boulevard after he allegedly "zig-zagged from one side of the road to the other." Storm's testimony that the defendant was "obviously intoxicated," as shown by his walk, talk and breath, was corroborated by Lovenstein, who assisted in committing him to jail.

Friends Call Him Sober

Paul Layman and Boyd Twigg, who said they were with Hart shortly before his arrest, testified that in their opinion he was sober.

The "zig-zagging" was attributed by the defense to a fault in the steering mechanism of the car, but the two officers, both of whom said they drove the vehicle, declared they noticed no such trouble.

In another drunk driving appeal, Wilbur W. Shuck, 27, of Eckhart, was found guilty by a jury which deliberated an hour and a half before bringing in its verdict. His conviction on a reckless driving charge was also upheld by the jury.

"Drunk after Driving"

The trial was highlighted by Shuck's statement that he "almost killed" half a pint of whiskey in two drinks — after the alleged offense was committed. He was arrested by City Patrolman Frank J. Zawaski and W. B. Lovenstein at the home of his father-in-law, W. J. McGreevy, 112 Henry street, in front of which he had parked his car.

Climax of the trial came when State's Attorney Harris, in his closing statement, told the jurors that "drunken driving is only a step removed from manslaughter."

James H. Sanker, colored, was

The strikers assembled before the county education building on Washington street, and sent their committee of senior lettermen in to talk to Superintendent Kopp. But the committee found the front door locked.

Local State Trooper Will Get Hearing On Recent Suspension

Baltimore, Oct. 25. (AP)—Charges of "wantonly offensive" conduct and "incompetence or inefficiency" were docketed with state employment commissioner today against State Trooper George M. Perkins, of the Cumberland substation.

Perkins was suspended Sept. 28 by Maj. Elmer F. Munshower, state police superintendent, who subsequently preferred the charges against him, records in the case disclosed.

The officer requested a hearing, as provided for under the state merit system act, and Employment Commissioner Harry C. Jones said a date for the inquiry would be set soon.

In addition to general complaints that Perkins was "wantonly offensive in conduct toward fellow employees, wards of the state, and the public," and was incompetent, an additional charge was filed that the officer had a "permanent or chronic physical or mental ailment or defect" incapacitating him for duty.

Detailed specifications on the general charges were not made public. Perkins joined the force Aug. 13, 1935.

Dr. Daugherty Explains Photography to Rotary

Interesting information about modern photography, especially its amateur phase, was given Rotarians yesterday at the Fort Cumberland hotel by Dr. L. E. Daugherty.

His talk was illustrated with screen views of colored candid camera shots, while a collection of enlarged photographs taken by himself was displayed and commented upon.

Among the little known facts brought out by Dr. Daugherty was the important position now occupied by the photographic industry, which, he said, is the third largest of our industries. Four-fifths of our silver production, he said, goes into motion picture photography.

Dr. Daugherty explained the difference between a picture and a photograph. The latter he said, is merely a pictorial record, while the picture, though it may be of the same thing, is something which stirs the emotions, wherein it is more of a work of art.

Although photography is a hobby which Dr. Daugherty took up only thirteen months ago, he has already won a number of prizes for his pictures.

Memories

Forty Years Ago

The attention of the water board of Cumberland was called to the filthy condition of the electric globes on Washington and South Mechanic streets.

The Republican campaign in Allegany county was opened with a large and enthusiastic mass meeting at Eckhart. Frank Porter, ex-member of the House of Delegates, presided. The speakers were A. A. Doub, D. Lindley Sloan, C. Edgar Keller, David A. Robb and Ralph M. Luman.

White's, one of the "old" stores of Cumberland, situated at 99 and 101 Baltimore street, displayed the greatest stock of "Collarettes" in this city. The collection contained the "Fashion's Favored Furs" in the newest and most stylish shapes and combinations. They were supposed to have been fashioned from seal, Persian lamb, astrachan, opossum, mink, and mink, and were priced at from $1.98 to $30.

The Cumberland Concert band gave one of their concerts at the Academy of Music. The band was considered one of the finest musical organizations in Maryland. One of the features was the appearance of the Jones children's cornet duet.

"Our Nation in War," the great cycloramic portfolio of famous battles of the republic, sized 11x14 inches, was advertised for sale here in Cumberland. This Series of War Pictures followed the Events of the Wars from 1776-1898, and by aid of photographer and artist, and deeds of valor of our Army and Navy were revealed. These series were secured by a clipped coupon from the paper along with 10 cents for each additional copy.

Motorist Bags Deer Near Celanese, Bul Warden Takes It

James Pfaff, of Frostburg, "bagged" a doe Monday night, but he will not be prosecuted despite the fact that hunting regulations specifically forbid killing of other than male deer.

That's because Pfaff, an employee of the Celanese corporation, struck the doe with his automobile when the animal bounded into his path on the highway near the Celanese plant.

Finding that the doe's leg was broken, Pfaff cut her throat, loaded her on his car and turned her over to State Trooper George J. Miller.

The animal was given by Miller to the game warden, who gave it to a charitable institution.

School Finances To Be Discussed

West Virginia Teachers Will Hear State Officials at Convention

Charleston, W. Va., Oct. 25. (AP)—With revision of school finances as a major job ahead of the administration, the subject of state aid appeared certain tonight to get a thorough airing before 10,000 West Virginia teachers.

The 74th annual meeting of the State Education Association opening tomorrow will be the first since the legislature's interim committee brought out its proposal for the state to supply 45 per cent of the money needed for a foundation school program.

S. E. A. leaders did not predict any formal action on the bill which will go before the 1939 legislature, but it was conceded the teachers' organization at least favors the broad aims of the measure.

Holt Will Speak

Governor Holt, under whose guidance the interim committee suggested the most far-reaching revision in school finances since adoption of the county unit system, will address the teachers Thursday night.

He is expected to explain the provisions of the bill, the reasons for its being and inform the teachers he believes it is about the best that can be drafted at this time.

The men who wrote the bill have expressed the belief it will bring an end to the annual school emergencies and through reallocation of property levies provide more money after next year.

Trent Speaks Friday

Superintendent of Schools W. W. Trent will be a speaker Friday and he is almost certain to talk on state aid revision. Advance information was that Trent will express the hope the bill is a step toward better conditions in state schools.

The S. E. A. executive committee, headed by Miss Ruth Walls, Kingwood, president of the association, met tonight to make final arrangements for the three-day meeting, which will bring to Charleston between 10,000 and 11,000 teachers to hear state and nationally prominent speakers.

Committee members said the session tonight was routine.

Furniture Re-Finishing Studied by Home League

All women interested in learning the art of furniture re-finishing and chair caning are invited to attend the weekly sessions of the Women's Home League in the Salvation Army Citadel, Brigadier B. L. Phillipson announced.

About thirty-five league members have been attending these educational sessions every Wednesday, he said. Tonight's meeting will be at 7:30. In several weeks the women will turn to hooked rug manufacture. A social hour follows the meetings.

A similar league in South Cumberland is taking up sewing at the present.

Federals Re-Capture Alleged Law Violator

Charged with violation of the federal liquor laws, Edward Paugh, of Vindex, was committed to Allegany county jail last night, pending a hearing before United States Commissioner William A. Vandegriff.

Paugh was apprehended several weeks ago by federal officers and released on his recognizance for his appearance at a commissioner's hearing October 12, but failed to appear.

He was arrested yesterday by Howard P. Loughrie, United States deputy marshal.

Whiskey Bottle Hits Car, Five Men In Hotel Room Jailed

Five men in a crew of magazine salesmen were arrested early today after a whiskey bottle, apparently thrown from the window of a downtown hotel, dented the side of a passing car.

Patrolman James Condon arrested all five men in one room of the hotel on charges of disorderly conduct. They gave Baltimore addresses. Their cases will be heard today.

Bride Intoxicated When Married She Says in Suit

Annulment is Asked Woman Who Was Here Oct. 1

Proponents of the 48-hour marriage law on which Maryline will pass Nov. 8 were furnished ammunition for their campaign by a suit filed in Circuit court yesterday.

The suit was filed by a woman seeking annulment of her Cumberland marriage ground that she was intoxicated when the ceremony was performed.

Mrs. Josephine Ruth Royer, 27, of Brookville, Pa., annulment of her marriage Oct. 1 to William Joseph, also of Brookville, set for petition that she "was in a state of intoxication at the time the marriage ceremony was performed and was incompetent to make a contract of marriage."

She "had been in an inebriated condition for some hours prior to the ceremony," the petition continued "and remained in that condition until the following day."

Records of the Clerk's office show that a license was issued to the couple Oct. 1 and they were married by the Rev. Wise.

Holding she had "no intention of marrying the defendant," Royer stated that "upon the day of her proper and sober mind, she immediately left the company of the defendant and went to the residence of her parents in a semi-drunken condition."

Since Royer is an adult, the court directed that the case be notified by publication. The case should appear "on or before October 14, 1935, to show cause why the decree should not be granted."

Mayor and Four Others Leave for N. Y. M.

Mayor Thomas W. Koonce, representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, left early today for New York, where they will confer with Dr. Charles F. Ketter, president of the Celanese Corporation of America, today.

Accompanying the mayor are Benjamin Kamens, George Isaac Hirsch, and Harold K. Ketter. Because of illness, City Engineer Charles Z. Heskett did not go.

The delegation will stay in New York until they have found out what conditions are necessary to have the Celanese plant proposed new plant here, in Pearisburg, Va.
